MELTWATER
CODE OF CONDUCT

INTRODUCTION

Built around our company values of Moro, Enere, Respekt and MER, a fundamental belief in people, hands-on entrepreneurship and a lot of hard work, we have grown Meltwater from a two-man start into a global player in the SaaS and Media industry. And we want to continue to grow and "Be More" as we aspire to be the best in class in whatever we do.

This aspiration helps us hire outstanding people, build innovative products, and attract great clients around the globe. Our code of conduct helps us with that, setting the tone of following the law, acting honorably and treating each other with professionalism and respect wherever we operate.

Who Must Follow Our Code?

All Meltwater employees are expected to know and follow this Code of Conduct. In addition, to uphold our values, we expect contractors, board members, interns, consultants and others who may be working within the Meltwater organization, to follow the Code. Failure to act within the principles as set forth in this Code may result in disciplinary action.

We expect our managers to be role models and lead their teams in a manner exemplifying our core values. They must be knowledgeable of, adhere to, and be able to instruct their teams on Meltwater policies, including this Code of Conduct. In the event of a breach of the Code of Conduct, managers are ultimately responsible for the actions of their team.

Who to turn to?

Legal and HR have taken ownership of creating this Meltwater Code of Conduct and will be available for your questions, concerns or ideas. So if you are unsure about any items or how to deal with certain aspects, please reach out to Nynke Wright, Head of Legal or Laurie Dahlgren, Head of HR. If you become aware of any violation to the Code, become victim to a violation, or find yourself subject to a conflict of interest, please discuss this with your manager, HR or Legal.

RESPECTFUL WORKING ENVIRONMENT

At Meltwater, we are committed to a supportive work environment, where employees have the opportunity to develop to their full potential. Each of us is expected to do his or her utmost to create a respectful, fun and inspiring workplace culture that is free of harassment, intimidation, bias and unlawful discrimination of any kind.

Equal Opportunity Employment

At Meltwater, employment and career progression are based upon individual merit and qualifications directly related to professional competence. We strictly prohibit unlawful discrimination or harassment of any kind, including discrimination or harassment on the basis of race, color, religion, veteran status, national origin, ancestry, pregnancy status, sex, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, mental or physical disability, medical condition, sexual orientation or any other characteristics protected by applicable law. We make all reasonable accommodations to meet our obligations under applicable laws protecting these rights.

Positive Environment

Meltwater prohibits unlawful harassment in any form – verbal, physical, psychological, or visual.

Safe Workplace

We are committed to a violence-free work environment, and we will not tolerate any level of violence or the threat of violence in the workplace.

Communication

Part of a respectful working environment is communicating right. We take pride in professional, open and honest communication with our employees as well as in responding promptly to communication from our clients or partners, whether questions, problems or compliments.

Drugs and Alcohol

Meltwater does not permit substance abuse as it can impact employee health and safety. Whereas we cherish the tradition of Fredagspils, we expect our employees to use good judgment and never drink in a way that leads to inappropriate behavior, endangers the safety of others or violates the law. Illegal drugs in our offices or at company or client events are strictly prohibited. If a manager has reasonable suspicion to believe that an employee attends work or work events under the influence of drugs or alcohol, the manager may request an alcohol and/or drug screening.

AVOIDING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

While working for Meltwater, you should always strive to do what is in the best interest of the company. When you find yourself in a situation where you could pursue a personal benefit for yourself, your family or friends at the expense of Meltwater, you may be facing a conflict of interest. You may not engage in activities that compete with Meltwater or compromise Meltwater's interests.

When in doubt whether or not you may have a conflict of interest, you can ask yourself the following questions to help you understand whether a given situation may constitute a conflict of interest:

- Could my personal interests in this situation affect the decision I might make for Meltwater?
- Do I, or a friend or family member, stand to gain any advantage from my actions or decisions?
- Would I be embarrassed if anyone at Meltwater knew about the situation?
- Do I feel any obligation as a result of the nature of the relationship I have with a third party doing business with Meltwater?

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, this could indicate that you have a conflict of interest.

Outside Employment

You should avoid accepting employment, advisory positions or other involvements that can pose a conflict of interest with your employment at Meltwater. Reference can be found in your employment agreement or according documents.

Friends and Relatives; Co-Worker Relationships

Avoid participating in a potential or existing Meltwater business relationship involving your relatives, spouse or significant other, or close friends. This includes being the hiring manager for a position for which your relative or close friend is being considered or being a relationship manager for a company associated with your spouse or significant other. If you are uncertain, discuss the situation with your manager and Legal. Withholding such relationships could result in termination of employment of involved Meltwater employees, and at a minimum, reassignment to eliminate the conflict.

Romantic relationships between co-workers can, in certain situation, i.e. one reporting to the other, create a conflict of interest. If it does, it may require changes to work arrangements or even the termination of employment of either or both individuals involved. Please reach out to Human Resources for additional guidance on this issue.

Accepting Gifts, Entertainment and Other Business Courtesies

Accepting occasional gifts and entertainment can be appropriate in developing business relationships. There are some rules that you need to keep in mind. You should not accept any gifts, favors or forms of entertainment if this could appear to influence your business judgment in any way. Giving and accepting gifts should further the business interests of Meltwater and not be excessive compared to generally accepted business practices in your country.

You can accept gifts of low value, which feature the logo of the company providing the gift (umbrellas, calendars, note pads etc.). In the following circumstances, you need to seek prior approval from your manager:

- Gifts/entertainment exceeding a value of USD/EUR 40;
- Gifts/entertainment involving travel expenses;

You should not discuss Meltwater with the press unless you have been authorized to do so by our ED of Marketing or the CEO. You should never misrepresent facts about Meltwater, its products and services, or other aspects of Meltwater's business.

Anything you do using Meltwater's corporate electronic facilities (e.g., our computers, mobile phones, network, etc.) or store on our network (e.g., letters, memos and other documents) might be disclosed to people inside and outside the company. For example, Meltwater may be required by law (e.g., in response to a subpoena or warrant) to access and disclose the contents of corporate email, voicemail, computer files and other materials.

Security

If you have any reason to believe that our network security has been violated – for example, you lose your laptop or smart phone or think that your network password may have been compromised – please promptly report the incident to the IT department.

FINANCIAL INTEGRITY AND RESPONSIBILITY

Spending Meltwater's Money

Meltwater is a cost conscious company. We are working hard for our money, we take pride in spending it wisely and expect you spend company money as if it were your own. When you submit an expense for reimbursement or spend money on Meltwater's behalf, make sure that the cost is reasonable, directly related to the business and supported by appropriate documentation. This also applies to business travel spending. In principle, you should not combine business and personal travel. In case this occurs, any extra expenses caused must be borne by you. Always record the business purpose and comply with other submission requirements. Managers are responsible for all money spent and expenses incurred by their direct reports, and should carefully review such spend and expenses before approving.

OBEYING THE LAW

At Meltwater, we take our responsibilities to comply with applicable laws and regulations seriously. Each of us is expected to comply with such laws and regulations.

Trade Controls

We comply with all recognized boycotts and sanctions, and all legal requirements for the proper import and export of goods and technology.

Competition Laws

We believe in open and fair competition and only seek competitive advantage through fair and lawful means. You cannot exchange information or make agreements (in writing or otherwise) with competitors regarding costs, pricing policies, bids, promotions, terms of sale or any other information in violation of antitrust laws.

Anti-Bribery Laws

Meltwater and every employee are subject to the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), the UK Bribery Act and related laws in other jurisdictions and you must comply with these laws at all times. It is not allowed to engage in bribery or any other form of corruption. Employees cannot directly or indirectly promise, offer or provide any improper (financial) advantage to any person – including officials of a government or a government-controlled entity – for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or services.

Third parties may not be used to circumvent the bribery and corruption prohibition. Employees are not allowed to accept such an advantage, if given to motivate them to act contrary to their duties.
If you become aware of improper activity, including improper activity by partners or third parties, you should report this immediately to Legal.

CONCLUSION

It is not always easy to identify the right thing to do. If you have any questions regarding this Code of Conduct or need further guidance, feel free to reach out to your manager, Human Resources or Legal. If you are not comfortable raising the issue with your manager, you can choose to report the matter with the Head of HR or the Head of Legal.

If you become aware of a breach of the rules laid down in this Code, we encourage you to come forward and report the matter to our Head of HR or Head of Legal. We will not allow any retaliation against any employee who reports or participates in an investigation of a possible violation of this Code of Conduct.

Meltwater's compliance with this Code of Conduct is regularly monitored. Findings and recommendations are reported to the Board of Directors.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. 'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

What Kinds of Investments Are Prohibited For a 'Member of the Firm'?

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of investments are prohibited for a 'Member of the Firm'?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

What Kinds of Investments Are Prohibited For a 'Member of the Firm'?

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

INDEPENDENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW JOINERS

What is independence and why is it so important?

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of investments are prohibited for a 'Member of the Firm'?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

What Kinds of Investments Are Prohibited For a 'Member of the Firm'?

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

Do the independence rules apply to me?

When is my family subject to the rules?

What kinds of investments are prohibited for a 'Member of the Firm'?

What kinds of loans are acceptable?

What Is Independence and Why Is It so Important?

Auditor Independence avoids interests and relationships that might impair objectivity. The SEC, PCAOB, IESBA, AICPA, ICAI and other regulators/oversight bodies have developed basic standards for determining independence. These standards apply to our audit clients.

Do the Independence Rules Apply to Me?

Independence rules apply to all employees, directors and partners of the firm. However not all of the rules apply to everyone; so it is necessary to understand the independence rules that apply to you.

Please note that all client-facing personnel in the Firm, their spouses and dependents are governed by the independence policies of the Firm that include restrictions on investments in, and loans to or from, restricted entities. Investments include shares, debentures, bonds, mutual funds, portfolio management schemes, etc. In addition you may have restrictions on other financial interests with restricted entities on insurance policies, credit cards, loans, brokerage and bank accounts and spouse and dependent benefit plans. New Joiners should be in compliance with the Independence policies within 14 days of joining.

Two important technical terms identify those persons who need to maintain independence with respect to the Firm's clients. They are ' Member of the Firm ' and ' Covered Person ' . As you will see, all Covered Persons are also Members of the Firm, but all Members of the Firm may or may not be Covered Persons.

'Member of the Firm' - You are a Member of the Firm if you are a partner or a director or a client facing professional, including senior manager, manager or employee or any other professional who directly markets services, or who consults with an engagement team on a client-specific matter. This includes people who do not face clients directly but deal with client related data from afar. The only exception to these rules are staff who join Administration, Finance function etc. below the level of Director.

If you are a Member of the Firm you will be restricted from investing in, and receiving loans from or making loans to, restricted entities. Members of the firm may invest in mutual funds if they are not Covered Persons.

Please note that the term 'Member of the Firm' also includes your immediate family members (spouse and dependents). Details are under - When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

'Covered Person' - You are a Covered Person with respect to a specific client if you (1) participate in the audit engagement, (2) are in the firm's Chain of Command with respect to the audit engagement; (3) are a partner, director or professional employee having managerial responsibilities who (a) has provided 10 hours or more of non-audit professional services to the audit client for the period beginning on the date such services are first provided and ending on the date of the auditors' report on the financial statements for the fiscal year during which those services are provided, or (b) expects to provide any non-audit professional services to the audit client on a recurring basis; or (4) are a partner or client facing director in the same ' office ' in which the lead audit engagement partner primarily practices in connection with the audit engagement at an issuer level. The term 'Covered Person' also includes immediate family members, as explained in the section titled 'When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?' The Covered Person concept applies to bank accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance products, credit cards, housing and student loans, employment relationships of your family, investments of your spouse or dependents in their employee benefit plans of restricted entities, and investment in mutual funds.

When Is My Family Subject to the Rules?

If you are a Member of the Firm or a Covered Person, your spouse, spousal equivalent and dependents * , whether or not related, are also considered Members of the Firm or Covered Persons. These individuals are called ' immediate family members ' in the independence rules and they are subject to the same independence rules that apply to you. This means their investments, loans, all bank accounts, current and savings accounts, brokerage accounts, insurance policies, credit card balances, spouse or dependent employee benefit plans may affect your independence.

* Dependents are persons and/or their spouses who received more than 50% of their financial support in the past 12 months from you.

In certain instances your ' close family members ' —immediate family members plus your non-dependent parents, non-dependent children and siblings—are also subject to the independence rules. A close family member's employment with an audit client in an accounting role or a financial reporting oversight role, a material and known investment in, or control of an audit client, may impair the Firm's independence.

What Kinds of Investments Are Prohibited For a 'Member of the Firm'?

As a Member of the Firm, you (and your immediate family members) generally may not own (or be committed to acquire) any direct or material indirect financial interest in a restricted entity. Examples of financial interests include equity and preference shares, debentures, bonds and deposits, shares in a mutual fund, partnership units, stock rights, options or warrants to acquire an interest in an entity, or rights of participation such as puts, calls, or straddles.
In addition:

· If you own or your immediate family member owns shares in a mutual fund that is an audit client or in a non-client mutual fund that is advised, sponsored, or managed by an audit client or a subsidiary of an audit client for which you are a Covered Person, you have a direct financial interest in that client, and that is prohibited.

· You are not permitted to join an investment club, or participate in a Portfolio Management Scheme. Similarly, you may not invest in controlled joint ventures or partnerships unless those entities follow the

· Beneficial interests in trusts and interests in retirement plans or stock option plans of former employers are subject to the restrictions applicable to financial interests.

What Kinds of Loans Are Acceptable?

If you are a Covered Person, you and your immediate family members may not obtain loans from SEC financial institution audit clients for which you are a Covered Person. However, certain types of loans are permitted and other loans already in existence may be grandfathered. Personal loans from SEC audit clients of the Firm are not permitted for all Covered Persons. These loans cannot be grandfathered.

Growth Opportunities: We are expanding rapidly and opportunities for growth within the firm abound. We have a flat organizational structure compared to most market research and consulting firms. The positions we have in our research team in order of growth are

Research Associate ->Research Analyst -> Senior Analyst ->Lead Analyst ->Project Lead -> Research Manager -> Senior Research Manager ->Associate Research Director-> Research Director

Work culture and hours: We dress casual, work in a collegial atmosphere and a have a get-it- done attitude. Work hours are between 10 AM and 7 PM and Saturdays & Sundays are off. That said, we are a young company with a hunger for growth, so if needed, we put in the hours even after office timings or during weekends.
